Among those entertained by Miss Hunter-Jones yesterday were Mrs. Paul Marshall Bates, Miss Martha McChesney, Miss Ruth McChesney, Miss Violet Stoeber, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Helen Spalding, Mrs. Robert McElowney (Grace Robertson), Miss Eloise Wichman, Miss Callie Lucas, Miss Hazel Buckland and Miss Crichton Hunter-Jones.

Captain and Mrs. Sturges, who have been at Leilehua for some time were departing passengers in the transport Logan on Thursday. In Hilo Society. Hilo, Dec. 6.—Among the Hilo people who returned from the mainland in the Wilhelmina last week were Mr. and Mrs. M. de F. Spinoia, who have been traveling for the benefit of the health of the former; and Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Beamer, who have been traveling quite extensively.

Ralph E. Baldwin returned last week after a round trip in the Wilhelmina. He intends to take a vacation soon for the benefit of his health, but will remain in Hilo for a while in order to introduce to the work of the local office Purser Drew, who will take his place during his absence.

The Hilo Burns Club is making arrangements to celebrate its great annual feast day, the birthday of Robbie Burns, by a concert and dance to be given Jan. 25 at the Masonic hall. The Burns Club has during the past few months taken a new lease of life, and the affair next month will without doubt place in the shade even the successful celebrations of former years.

Mrs. Jaggar and children have joined Professor Jaggar, the volcanologist, at the Volcano House. They arrived last week, the professor having gone to Honolulu to meet them.

While the wretched weather last Saturday night was without doubt the cause of many remaining away from the dance and card party given at the Masonic hall by the Hilo Dramatic Club, it was a compliment of no mean order to the club that a large number turned up in spite of the storm. The card tables were well patronized, and some pretty fine Five Hundred playing was seen. The first prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson of Papahale, while Mrs. E. E. Moses and R. T. Forrest captured the consolation prize. The hall was prettily decorated and furnished a fine background for the dancers. Several figures of the Gervais were given, under the expert leadership of George N. Day, among them old favorites like the umbrella and the croquet set. This feature of the affair was enjoyed by the spectators about as much as by the dancers.

All the members of the order who could possibly get to Wailuku were present. Many visiting brothers were also in the company that the hotel entertained. The evening was spent in a social good time after the banquet was over.

MAUI THEATER POPULAR HOUSE

[Special Star-Bulletin Telegram.]

WAILUKU, Maui, Dec. 6.—The new "Maui Theater" tried out its new pattern and curtain last night with quite a crowd of friends and spectators to see how the new theatre would run. There have been purchased three hundred and sixty chairs for the new concern. It is expected that every one will be filled tomorrow evening, when the first roll of films for the public will be run off.

The whole of the floor of the Kepoi block, so-called, on the corner of Market and Main streets will be used for the new show house. There are a large number of windows in the building. The ventilation has been made even better than these openings would naturally afford by long narrow windows near the ceiling on the mauka side. This opening has been screened, and so protected that no rain can come in. The glass of windows has all been frosted, and a coat of white paint put over the whole of the walls and ceiling, so that the moment one steps into the hall he feels he is in an exceptionally attractive place.

The curtain is the best aluminum and will show up the pictures to a great advantage. The promoters of the new house are J. H. Kuneva, J. N. K. Keola and J. Leal. Mr. Leal has been here about two months, and will be the manager of the new company. There are two excellent features concerning the enterprise. One is that only motion pictures will be shown.

I believe that the success of the 1913 Floral Parade and Carnival will insure the success of those held in after years," said Zeno K. Myers at the first meeting of the finance committee of the 1913 Floral Parade held yesterday afternoon in the Merchants Association rooms. By this statement Mr. Myers made the fact clear that the next parade must be one the memory of which will remain fixed in the minds of the visitors expected from the mainland.

The meeting was called to order at four o'clock by Fred L. Waldron, who was appointed chairman of the finance committee by S. F. Chillingworth, director-general of the Parade and Carnival. Emil A. Berndt was elected secretary and A. Lewis, Jr., treasurer.

Parade, Finance.

The greater part of the meeting was taken up with the discussion of the finances of the parade and suggestions for raising the necessary funds. It was reported that a balance of about $500 now remains in the coffers of the parade committee, and that so far $1050 has been expended for the posters and other advertising. One plan for the raising of the needed funds was presented by A. D. Castro, who suggested that it be done through the medium of a scheme something on the plan of a tag-day, and that a number of men be secured to cooperate with the committee and pass around subscription blanks, and at the same time arouse public sentiment. Mr. Shingle, however, was of the opinion that such a plan would not be practical as the business houses and the citizens of Honolulu have been called upon too frequently to subscribe funds to a score of different undertakings, and that they might not care to make any more pledges.

May Sell Seats.

Someone suggested that grandstands be erected at suitable locations by which the parade would pass, and that admission be charged for a seat. This suggestion was favored by a majority of the members.

Mr. Myers gave an interesting talk on the possibility of the different attractions which may be secured. He said that the military of Hawaii would, no doubt, come forward with something in the way of maneuvers, and he laid special stress on the fact that a young aviator from California was very anxious to bring an aeroplane at the time of the big attraction and make a number of flights. The attraction, he said, would be a novelty, inasmuch as it would be entirely out of the ordinary. The special flights would be over the harbor.

Another matter which Mr. Myers emphasized was the fact that it would be the bits of ancient Hawaii about the parade that would cause the greatest interest among the tourists who are here at the time, and plans are now on foot to have some old Hawaiian sports such as spear throwing and surf-riding by torchlight. These sports, together with real old-fashioned lasso, would be one of the special features of the week.

All of the members of the committee who were present expressed themselves as being more than pleased with the present outlook in regard to the success of the Parade and Carnival in February and they believe that it will be the largest and the most unique of any previously carried out. A committee consisting of Dr. W. C. Hobdy, R. W. Shingle and A. D. Castro was appointed by Chairman Waldron to investigate the most profitable means or raising the funds necessary to finance the coming parade. The members of the committee who were present were R. W. Shingle, Dr. W. C. Hobdy, C. L. Hemenway, J. S. McCandless, A. D. Castro, E. A. Berndt and F. L. Waldron, chairman. Secretary Wood, of the promotion committee, and Zeno K. Myers were also present.

The other is that the price charged will be ten and fifteen cents only, prices that have been very popular in Honolulu. By running only motion pictures, it will be possible to make such a reasonable admission charge, which is most acceptable to Maui patrons.
